

Peter and the Wolf Poem

Peter, Peter wants to play, Who will play with him today?

Peter's friends are duck and bird, But out comes cat to have a word,

Little Bird! Quick! Fly away! Fly away!

Then along comes Grandfather.

Peter, Peter won't you wait? Peter, Peter, close the gate!

Get inside where you are safe! Alright, says Peter, and shut the gate.

And next a wolf comes slinking by, Watch out, cat! Duck! Fly away! Fly!

The cat escapes into a tree, But the duck is swallowed as quick as can be!

Now Peter does not lose hope. He climbs the tree with Grandfather's rope.

He leans right over; the rope goes tight! He captures the wolf without a fight!

Along come some hunters two by two, They all take the wolf off to the zoo.
